A writ of error was also granted to the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company in the case against it of R. L. Hudgins & Co., from the Circuit Court of Mathews County, One of the company's steamers, which piles the waters of the Plankitank and Great Wicomico Rivers, became grounded about a year ago, and in upite of every effort was not pulled off for twenty-four hours. This made tremendous shipments of shad for the Baltimore market late, causing them to miss the Friday sales and resulting in financial loss. Hudgins sued for recovery of the value, this being apparently only one of a long series of suits to be brought by shippers.
